[1] Greta Thunberg is a climate youth activist who has received worldwide recognition for her efforts to fight climate change. Greta was born on January 3, 2003, in Sweden. Her mother, Malena Ernman, is an opera singer, and her father, Svante, is an actor. She began her climate activism at the age of 15.

[2] In May 2018, Greta won a climate change essay competition in a local newspaper. Three months later, she started protesting in front of the Swedish parliament and skipping classes with the simple message "School strike for climate".Thanks to social media, her actions have spread rapidly and influenced millions of young people around the world.

[3] The teen activist has been invited to numerous meetings to speak on behalf of the climate youth movement. In December 2018, her speech at the United Nations COP24 in Poland got millions of likes, shares, and views. At the summit, she expressed her deep worry about the environment, saying "I don't care about being popular. I care about climate justice and the living planet."

[4] Greta had another opportunity to speak at the UN Climate Action Summit in New York City in September 2019. That is where she walked in the largest climate protest in history with a total of 4 million people.

[5] The world's eyes were on Greta when she condemned world leaders in her emotional "How Dare You!" speech at the UN, telling them: "You have stolen my dreams and my childhood with your empty words. ... People are suffering. People are dying. Entire ecosystems are collapsing... How dare you! We will never forgive you." In reaction to Greta's attitude, Anne Hidalgo, the mayor of Paris, said that"It is truly inspiring to see young people making their voices heard."

[6] In COP25 in Madrid, Greta again blamed leaders for not acting to save the planet because greenhouse gas emissions continue to rise. She realized that her school strikes "haven't achieved anything", and that "we need more activists". For her great efforts to make a difference about climate change, Greta Thunberg was nominated for the Nobel Peace Prize in March 2019.

Model answers (any appropriate answer is accepted)

Task 1: Many people leave the countryside to live in the city for several reasons. First, cities offer more jobs and better salaries, while in the countryside there are few opportunities for young people. Second, schools, universities and hospitals are better and closer in big cities. Third, city life is more exciting because there are cinemas, shops, sports centres and many places to meet friends. Finally, transport and services such as the internet are easier to find in the city. For all these reasons, many people choose to move to urban areas.

Task 2: Let's Keep Our Neighborhood Clean! Our neighborhood is dirty, and this is a problem for all the residents. Rubbish is thrown in the streets, and bad smells and insects make life difficult, so we must find solutions together. First of all, the municipality should put more bins in the streets and collect the rubbish every day. Moreover, residents should throw their waste in the bins and sort plastic, paper and glass for recycling. Another good idea is to organise cleaning campaigns with the help of local associations and school students. Finally, people who throw rubbish in the street should pay a fine. If everybody does a small effort, our neighborhood will be cleaner, healthier and more beautiful.
